

SHAKESPEAREAN INSULTS

By Lindsey Price

Are you a Shakespearean insult master?

Put your insulting skills to the test.

How to make an insult

There are three columns on the other side of this page: A, B, and C. To make an insult, pick one word from each column and bring them together.

For example, taking the first word in each column gives you the insult "white hair over apple cake."

How to use your insults

1) Write a down, simple scenario for the one below.

- A. They
- B. Hello there.
- A. Let me by, I have to cross the bridge.
- B. This can't
- A. Why not?
- B. Because
- A. Cause what?
- B. Cause there's a bear on the other side.
- A. Why didn't you say so, then making something beautiful?

2) Repeat your scene with as many insults as possible.

- A. Hey there, gruffest, overgrowned, faggot-mugger!
- B. Hello there, slow-paced, slapper, clown, wimpster.
- A. Can you by slow, slowly, slow-paced, mugger, yes, I have to cross the bridge.
- B. This can't.
- A. Why not?
- B. Because, slow, only your grasping hands!
- A. Cause why, then, dumbly, they being piggy!
- B. Cause there's a bear on the other side.
- A. Why didn't you say so, then making something beautiful?

3) Read them aloud.
