Summer Jobs

You are a teenager and you are looking to make your first summer job. You have a lot of options. You can work in a restaurant, retail store, amusement park, summer camp and so on. You need to be thoughtful and choose wisely.

Remember that you are still a student. There are a variety of things to think about.

You can do the boring thing... you can go work for a bit at the local fast food restaurant. This may not be a bad thing to do depending on your ability to get the job. You have the opportunity to both learn business work, that you can get out of if it turns out. Alternatively, you can work at a place like an amusement park. That tends to involve a lot of people in the business. You can learn a lot about customer service about what it's like to get the job. You can also work at a summer camp, retail, or work at a place that helps out a lot of people in the summer. The advantage here is that you have the chance to learn as possible for many people to succeed at any number of places: restaurants, stores, summer camp programs, etc. You can make the choice, but the experience is really important.

How about working for yourself? There are a lot of ways to do this, starting from a home business or working for yourself. You can make the choice, but the experience is really important.

On your own, if you can find a job, that's the best. It's a good idea to be prepared when your choice can take you.
