

I Have a Dream...

Use the audio feature below to give a reading speed about equality in the American South in 1963. Use the text feature below to read the speech. Use the text feature below to read the speech.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live up to the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day in the mountains of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day children will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream that one day we will be able to live together in peace and brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made smooth, and the rugged places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

With this faith, we can go on to win the battle of integration. We can bring a day when all of God's children will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day the sons of the oppressed shall be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day the sons of the oppressed shall be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day we will be able to live together in peace and brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day we will be able to live together in peace and brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day we will be able to live together in peace and brotherhood.
