Haiku

Haiku is a form of poetry from Japan, and is often about nature. Read the poem below.

The Tree

So big and so tall
Growing up into the sky
What a perfect tree.

As you can see, poetry doesn't always have to rhyme, but there are some special rules for haiku poetry:

- The first line must have 5 syllables
- The second line must have 7 syllables
- The third line must have 5 syllables

Now you try it: Think of something in nature to write a haiku poem about:
