

1. What is the Marquess of Queensberry? a. A British b. A German c. An American d. A Frenchman	2. Why does "The Marquess of Queensberry" die? a. Suicide b. Strangely c. Accident d. Poison
3. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality 4. Which of the following is not a character of a. Edward Clarendon b. Buchanan c. John d. Arthur	5. The play is written in the form of a. Verse b. Prose c. Poetry d. None of these 6. Which of the following is not a character of the play? a. Edward Clarendon b. Buchanan c. John d. Arthur
7. It is a play that is based on the lives of the Marquess of Queensberry and his wife. a. True b. False c. Uncertain d. None of these	8. Which of the following is not a character of the play? a. Edward Clarendon b. Buchanan c. John d. Arthur 9. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality
10. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality	11. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality
12. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality	13. The name of the play is described as a. The world of women after marriage b. The world of women before marriage c. The world of women love and hate d. The world of women democracy and equality