The first section of a letter is the salutation. The salutation is the part of the letter that says "Dear _____".

It is a good idea to use a salutation when you write a letter. It shows that you are polite and that you are interested in the person you are writing to.

1. What do you think the book will be about?

1. In what part would you find information about the different stages of growth?

2. What sort of information would you find on page 10?

3. What could you be reading about if you were on page 11?

4. If you didn't know it already, how would you find out what part would you find the answer? What is the purpose of the book?
