

Sentences & Sentence Fragments

A sentence tells a complete thought.

It has a subject (a who or what) and a predicate (which begins with a verb).

A sentence fragment does not tell a complete thought.

It may be missing a subject (a who or what) and/or part of the predicate (which includes the verb).

Directions: Decide if the following are sentences or sentence fragments. Then make the necessary corrections to make it a complete sentence.

1. The dog runs after the cat. _____

2. The flowers are their best. _____

3. My desk is very organized. _____

4. The path is very. _____

5. Boys and girls from school. _____

6. A small boy fell from the slide. _____

7. A small snake. _____

8. Only a mouse. _____
