

Animal Adjectives

Name: _____

Adjectives describe nouns. They give information about something or someone that we can discover with our senses. They tell how he/she/it looks, feels, sounds, smells, or tastes.

Some adjectives come from different kinds of animals. They allow us to describe features that resemble the animal or things that come from the animal. You are probably familiar with the adjective canine, which describes something related to a dog. See how you do with the other animal adjectives below.

Read each animal name. Find the animal adjective in the box that matches that animal, and write it on the line.
