

Homophones story answers www.scavengerhuntsforkids.com

A homophone is a word that is pronounced the same as another word but differs in meaning. A short example of a homophone is the words "know" and "no". (Wikepedia)

Each sentence has a homophone. Figure out the homophone and go get the object. For example, the first homophone is chilly. Find a can or package of chili.

It was a chilly(can of chili) fall night. The wind blew(blue). The bats(baseball bat) swooped. My Aunt(ant) decided to take a walk to the store. On the way she spied a dog that began to bark(bark of a tree). It looked like the dog was trying to bury(berry) a bone. As she got closer my aunt saw the dog had found a cache(cash) of jewels. The dog came over to smell her scent(cent). As the dog sniffed her, my aunt read(red) the dog's tag. The serial(cereal) number was 23232. There was also a name on the tag, "colonel,"(popcorn kernel) with an address.

"Would(wood) you like to go home?" she asked the dog. She walked the dog home to 25 Flour(flower) Street. The woman was pale(pail) when she handed back the jewels but she eventually found her voice and invited my aunt in for coffee.
