

Name: _____

Date: _____

Homophones- Your and You're

- Homophones are words that have the same sound as another word but have different spellings and meanings.
 - ✓ Your- Describes something that belongs to you. (I love your jacket!)
 - ✓ You're- A contraction for you and are. (You're very smart!)

Use the word your or you're to correctly fill in each sentence.

1. I would love to visit _____ home sometime soon.
2. Let's go to _____ classroom and help the teacher.
3. _____ going to help with chores this weekend.
4. Is _____ homework finished yet?
5. Darren wanted to play baseball this weekend, but _____ going to be away.
6. Angie wanted to borrow _____ pencil.
7. I think _____ an excellent singer!
8. Why did you forget _____ homework this morning?
9. Please don't put _____ feet up on the coffee table.
10. I would like to meet _____ best friend.
11. _____ reading some of my favorite books!
12. The dog accidentally chewed up _____ soccer shoes.
13. This afternoon, _____ going to bake a special treat..