

Question: advantages and disadvantages

1. Research the advantages and disadvantages. Therefore describe how the learning strategies influence your own learning process in detail.

Therefore make one advantage and one disadvantage interesting, convincing, more informative and more useful

However, always explain if possible people often prefer watching TV for information and entertainment. I suggest individual experiences are more consistently received. But like all things have two sides. TV also has both advantages and disadvantages.

Watching TV can be very useful. First and foremost, it provides us with high quality information and entertainment. For example, with the help of TV we can learn a lot about the world around us. However, there are also disadvantages. For example, TV is a highly addictive medium. Many and many people have learned to rely on it. This is dangerous because it can lead to a loss of concentration and learning. Furthermore, too many children are watching TV and this is bad for their health. Additionally, too many children are watching TV and this is bad for their health. Additionally, too many children are watching TV and this is bad for their health. Additionally, too many children are watching TV and this is bad for their health.

In conclusion, I think the positive influence is far greater but it depends on the individual whether the influence is positive or negative.
