

?Nursery rhyme baby shower game can be a lot of fun, make sure you pick nursery rhymes that most people would know and remember. You will need to choose a few to play the game. Going to the library and getting a book with nursery rhymes will be best, so that you can get the exact words and phrases correct for the games.

Here are a few ways to use nursery rhymes as games during your baby shower.

* Make copies of different nursery rhymes for your baby shower game so that no guest has the same rhyme. As the guests enter hand each one their nursery rhyme. After everyone has arrived and is situated. Have each guest act out their nursery rhyme. Similar to charades, except everyone guesses. Whoever is correct receives a prize. Prizes can be small trinkets or in some cases are baby store gift certificates that at the end of the party are given to the mother to be.

* Write out the nursery rhymes, leaving out parts of each. Make copies of these and keep the original with all the words. Give every guests the nursery rhymes with the missing words and have them fill in the blanks. The person with the most correct wins a prize or gift certificate.

* As each guest enter the party give them a safety pin and tell them that every time they cross their legs and another guest catches them, they have to recite a nursery rhyme. If they can not recite a nursery rhyme they have to give the other guest their safety pin. The person with the most safety pins at the end of the party receives a prize. Guests can catch each other repeatedly, so even if a guest loses their safety pin they can get someone else. This game goes on for the duration of the party until the very end.

* Have guests draw out their favorite nursery rhymes. Have pens, crayons, markers, colored pencils, and paper available for your guests. This does not necessarily mean that anyone will win a prize, however these can be given to the mother to be as a keepsake of the party.

* Another nursery rhyme baby shower game is to list names of popular nursery rhymes on a board and see who can say the most rhymes correctly. Again, whoever gets the most right wins a prize or gift certificate.

* Similarly, draw pictures and see who guess the most nursery rhymes correctly by the pictures placed on the board.

If your theme is nursery rhymes for your baby shower, then you could actually play some or all of the nursery rhyme baby shower game ideas above. Again, make sure you have enough nursery rhymes to use and a good variety. Make some easy and others a little bit harder. You do not want the games to end too soon or make them to simple for your guests to play.
