

A Big Dream Game For Adults!

Read the following questions, imagining the answers you want and write the best one that you choose. This is a self-directed procedure designed to assist you in the process of writing the questions that most often surface in reflection on values and about that are related to your circumstances (and something about yourself) and also your childhood friends.

