

▲ Figure 14-15 Even at this early stage of development, the kinship of vertebrates is evident. Notice, for example, the throat pouches and tails of both the bird embryo (left) and the human embryo (right).