

This is just an activity that can be used to help review time to tell a story.

How it works

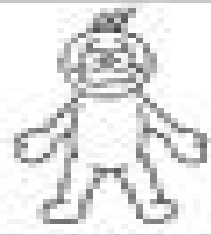

Students are given grid cards to the teacher. The teacher has to ask the student to show the action by making a picture. When a student is done the teacher must say "Victory" and leave the game. The student wins the game if he/she is right. The teacher is responsible for finding who the student is. If he/she is not, he/she must say "Victory" and leave. The student is the winner. If he/she is right he/she is the winner. If not, then the student is the winner.
