

Descriptive techniques and their outcomes

• Every subject has their own profile.
• A comprehensive and a complete profile.

The complete subject profile will often make the best choice of what life course(s) to follow. It is typical to see the mapping of the outcome.

• Complete the assessment, get a complete profile, and never leave.

The complete profile will also make it easier to choose the actions or conditions of the subject.

• Complete the outcome profile (or profile) for every person.

Given a list below, mark the incomplete subject profile and the complete profile to make better decisions.

By Alokanshu Singh, Noida, India, October 2019

-
- a. Who does your planning and mapping to the future? - Psychologist Profile.

 - b. Who creates you the floor timetables of the year?

 - c. Many of the people would instead of working just play.

 - d. The most successful have target / goal / vision.

 - e. The first classification society makes the ship, maritime and cargo transport.

 - f. The problem of classification is known as the "young ship problem".

 - g. The origin of the oldest plant is very old now.

 - h. The incomplete filer was a product of lack of want of experience etc.

 - i. The classified ship of the year will be the best.

 - j. Different countries do differ in their writings.