St. Louis,

Dear Doctor:--

With the beginning of the new year we enter into a new field of progress and usefulness.

We wish to call your attention to our so-well-known LABORDINE, put up now in five-grain (5-gr.) tablets, bearing the letter "L", in order to avoid imitations and to protect the honest physician and also his patient.

We enclose you a useful, handsome little present, which contains twelve (12) five-grain (5-gr.) tablets of Labordine, enough to give it a fair trial. Complaints have frequently been made by the profession that by our former methods of sending out only four (4) ten-grain (10-gr.) powders, thorough experiments could not be made. We trust you will accept it, if for nothing else than as a convenient match-box or to contain toothpicks.

We are assured you will find LABORDINE excelling all other antipyretics, anodynes, sedatives, etc., on the market now; its action is quick and speedy, and no bad after-effects will result as it is in fact a heart stimulant. You will find LABORDINE to do all we claim for it, and even more, if used long enough. It will relieve pain in almost any disease, as the value of LABORDINE lies in the fact that it quickly reaches the nerve-centers; hence its far-reaching effects.

In accompanying circular you will find the formula of LABORDINE. Each single constituent is possessed of most highly curative properties.

In connection, we beg to draw your attention (see circular enclosed) to "ANTIPILUS". The same is a definite drug of great therapeutic value in skin diseases, as an anti-parasite, germicide, etc., and, as its name indicates, possessed of the power of destroying hair definitely and instantaneously on any part of the body, without injuring the skin or producing undesirable effects. It will, on the contrary, produce a healthy, smooth, soft, velvet-like surface; will destroy freckles and other kindred impurities.

Perusal of circular enclosed will, undoubtedly, be of the highest interest to the Medical Fraternity, as never any drug of that kind, and possessing those properties, has been put on the market.

Soliciting correspondence, and hoping to hear from you, we are,

Yours very truly,

RATIONAL CHEMICAL COMPANY.

P. S.--If quicker results are desired, prescribe Labordine in powder-form. Tablets do not dissolve as readily.

LABORDINE IS PURELY VEGETABLE.
