

The sentence features a compound appositive consisting of two infinitive phrases joined by the coordinating conjunction or. The prepositional phrase for example is an independent element, not connected grammatically with the rest of the diagram; therefore, the line on which the preposition for rests is not connected with the rest of the diagram.