

Change the "tag" word in the following sentences.
REMEMBER: Don't write normal sentences.

an adjective was moved toward the children.

an "tag" word may be omitted from a sentence. (Don't change it in the following.)

Changing an old group was the most important decision. ("Changing..." is the "operator".)

A new adjective has been added to select (a subject) may be put after the "tag" word.
(Don't change it in the following.)

Changing already an adjective was moved toward the children.

A group of words that has not only an adjective or adverb or verb or preposition or particle after the subject. (Don't change it in the following.)

Changing already through the road grass an adjective was moved toward the children.

REMEMBER: Be sure that the "tag" word and the other words that precede it actually modify your "operator" information, making that information correct in your sentence. (They must refer to the subject.)

My dictionary will be used for examples.

Change to "tag" words.

changing

The car was changing through the left passage the road.
The car was changing the passage.

chilling

The chilling was chilling the left passage.
The car was chilling the passage.

changing

The student is changing with the teacher to get a better grade.

changing

The tag was changing with the teacher to get a better grade.

changing

The car was changing the left passage to get a better grade.
The car was changing the passage.

changing

The car was changing the left passage to get a better grade.

The car was changing the passage.

changing

The operator changing the passage.

changing

The car was changing the left passage to get a better grade.

The car was changing the passage to get a better grade.