

Discussion Worksheets

To the student:

Classes are more interesting when discussions are lively and deal with topics that you are prepared to discuss. The students in my classes appreciate knowing about class discussion issues in advance so they can take notes related to the issues as they read the chapter that has been assigned. When they bring their notes to class, they find it less intimidating to join the discussion. They use their notes as a guide and they are more likely to participate because they have thought about the discussion questions in advance. I hope you have a similar experience if these worksheets are used in your course.