

THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER

It is           ,           . The weather is           . The summer days are so full of           .            is            in           ,           ,           , July and           . The grasshopper lives in the garden. He sings, he dances and eats from the plants. But the ant cannot find to make a hole and carry the food to his home for the           . The grasshopper laughs him and thinks he is a fool.

The days go on and the leaves start to fall down in           ,           . The food of grasshopper starts to finish. In           ,            in October and in the           ,            it feels a bit and he cannot sing, dance and dance and eat his food.

Then, the winter comes. Everything is full of           . The grasshopper is very            and there is no food in           ,           ,            and February. Then he thinks that the ant is right. He goes to the ant hole and asks for food. The ant laughs him and thinks the grasshopper is a fool. But there is good and good news for the grasshopper.

When the           ,            comes, there are green leaves and flowers all around in           ,            and           . It rains a bit, so, the grasshopper started go out and have food again. But he still has holes and still he is very hungry for some           .
