

Persuasive Letters

Ben wants to persuade his parents to let him stay up later. As part of his writing plan, he is going to write a persuasive letter to convince them to change his bedtime. This task writing worksheet has some ideas about how to write persuasive letters. Read both letters and then answer the questions at the end.

LETTER A

Dear Mum and Dad,

I want to stay up later than I do at the moment. You make me go to bed at 9:00 and this is too late.

If you let me stay up later I would be really pleased to let you to watch TV for longer and I'd get even more work on that computer game you've been trying to sell.

I want to stay up at least until 11:00, maybe even until 12:00. That's a really big deal if you would let me stay up later sometimes. I would just be nice to go to bed later than I do now.

Just want to have more time to play and I want to be able to go to bed at night.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Your son,

Ben
