

Persuasive Letters

Ben wants to persuade his parents to let him stay up later. As part of his reader plan, he is writing to write/draw a letter to convince them to change his bedtime. This task writing involves but you decide what is the most persuasive. Read both letters and then answer the questions at the end.

LETTER A

Dear Mum and Dad,

I want to stay up later than I do at the moment. You make me go to bed at 9:00 and this is too late.

If you let me stay up later I would be really pleased to be able to watch TV for longer and I'd get even more excited about computer games like Super Mario Bros.

I would like to stay up at least until 11:00, maybe even until 12:00. That's a really long time and you would be really up later and then I would get the time to go to bed later than I do now.

I just want to have more time to play and I want to be able to go to bed at night.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Your son,

Ben
