THOMPSON.

---

Charles H. Thompson in pride can claim
Hats and gents' furnishing goods give him fame

Thus people all this fact confess,

He guardian stands of perfect dress;

Only Hatter in Atchison,

Many triumphs he has won,

Patrols of his all do say

Silk hats he sells hold magic sway,

Of finest quality, brightly gleam

Naps so thick they show no seam

Grand assortment wool hats here,

Every style, Felt and Cassimere.

Neat Fine Dress shirts, too, we see,

These made to order a specialty.

Stylish and neat, the joy of it,

First-class the quality, perfect in fit

Underwear—Hosiery of every class;

Rich Ties and Scarfs, none can surpass;

Neat Cuffs and Collars, there's no end

In latest styles we can commend.

So shall he keep his record sure,

His popular store shall long endure,

Experienced many years, well can plan

Rightly to deck and grace each man
