

Answers to Multiple-Choice Questions

Answers

Answers

1. What was one of the major problems facing the U.S. in the 1930s?
The Great Depression.
2. What was the New Deal?
A series of programs and policies designed to provide relief, recovery, and reform.
3. What was the goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
4. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
5. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
6. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
7. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
8. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
9. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.
10. What was the main goal of the New Deal?
To provide relief for the unemployed and poor, to recover the economy from the depression, and to create new jobs.