Suddenly feeling a whip of semi-pain, is what Cartwoman's whip is all about. Riding on a not so sturdy, wooden rollercoaster can get crazy if you go on Thunderbolt. This rollercoaster was one of the first ones built at the park, feels like you are trapped in a wild thunderstorm.

It is amazing that the water park is the favorite part of the amusement park to so many people. Like my brother says "You can never get enough of the world's strongest element." Being splashed around the wavepool is exciting to try and swim through. A delicious rain is no match for the sprinklers at Six Flags. Sitting in an inflated life preserver and being engulfed by giant waterfalls, really gives you the feeling of a hurricane. Lastly, the tube slides will make you want to scream for your mother, when you lie inside the dark tunnel, and can't see a thing, until you get to the end.

As you can see, being at Six Flags New England, can be the 3 d's: dangerous, delicious, and of course delirious. So get ready for the mouthwatering food, exciting rides, and refreshing water park.
