

Making Friends

*Let me to introduce myself*

* I: "Hi, my name is _____, pleased to meet you. How do you do? How are you getting on? How are you doing?"

*Let me to introduce your friend to you*

* I: "Hi, my name is _____, pleased to introduce your friend to me. How do you do?"

*I would to meet you.* / *Nice to meet you.*

- This phrase is used after you and your new friend have both had their own introductions.

*Did you just come from _____? / *Where do you work? / *Where were you last night?*

- These are interrogative (question) phrases to make "small talk". These phrases are used when people meet for the first time, and are often used in social situations. They are often used to get to know about each other's lives.

*It was great to meet you.*

- This phrase is used to say that you enjoyed meeting someone, or that you are glad that you will be able to see them again.
