

"Women are superior to Men"

Which gender do you consider to be the best? Many people have argued over this for a long time, but we will look at the reasons why many are against the statement and why many agree. There are many different points to rise, for example the point that men are physically stronger and the point that women are able to cope better with many different issues and decisions.

Holly, I believe women are the strongest thinkers between the two genders and that they are more intelligent. Research confirms that the brains of men and women are different. Studies show that human male brains are on average approximately 10% larger than female brains. It has been proven that in the part of the female brain that allows us to think, it is around 30% bigger than in the male brain. This confirms that females have more ability to think for themselves and make responsible decisions and also allows them to achieve more academically.

Even at youth the belief that women are the most intelligent – one study shows, involving babies 3-4 days old that baby girls maintained eye contact with adults nearly twice as long as boys did, this shows they are more alert. Baby girls seem to be more interested in communicating than the boys. Girls are also better at recognizing the emotional content of talking, they are more easily comforted by talk and they are more likely to request change when a milkout or irritated by pain or noise. This study just shows us how girls develop and grow much more quickly than boys and it is said that the maturing levels of males are about two years behind females. During school girls are proven to concentrate better and have better results. As well as girls being the majority of people who get through University. Other research suggests that, on average, the female brain performs some skills better.

However a point on the other hand would be that males are able to achieve more in careers and more jobs are offered to them because of their gender and ability. It is believed they can do certain jobs more effectively than females, not always because of strength but because things like mechanics and fixing things come naturally to a lot of men and because it is an assumed role for many. Men are proven to be physically stronger but many women are also as capable as some
