3. What are your major findings about the theory of generalization and how does it relate to the theory of learning?

Response:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

Notes:
 The theory of generalization is a generalization of the theory of learning. The theory of learning is a generalization of the theory of generalization.

4. Write a short paper:

- a. Behaviorism → Why don't you _____?
- b. Behaviorism → Why don't you _____?
- c. Behaviorism → Why don't you _____?
- d. Behaviorism → Why don't you _____?
- e. Behaviorism → Why don't you _____?
