

Checking Account

A. Reading

Rene is engaged to her boyfriend Kyle. They plan to get married in May, and they are celebrating it with a party for the wedding and the honeymoon. Kyle wants to open a joint checking account for both of them now, but Rene wants to. She likes having her own bank account. She has a savings account and a checking account, and she doesn't want another account. Kyle is thrilled with her money, and if she opens a joint account with him, he might not have to explain why she needs money from the account. He might even tell her why she didn't deposit enough money into their account. Kyle thinks that Rene doesn't trust him. He asks her, "Can't you get yourself a debit card? You should have it!" Should she open a joint checking account with Kyle?
