

Past Participle or Present Participle?

I like listening to audio books, that is a quite way to spend your free time.

I find James Bond movies very I always fall asleep while watching them.

A bubble bath is very

I have been trying to hang up the curtains for hours. I simply can't. It is so

Running a complete marathon is for everyone.

He opened the small box that the post man had brought for him. But he was very – there wasn't a present for him as he had thought, there were only catalogs inside.

The road signs were very We had no idea in which direction we should go.

It had been raining all day and we had no rubber boots, so we had to walk through the mud in our sandals, it was

Last week I received a very email.

Tom was telling his version of the story but didn't know the person that had seen the whole thing happening was standing right behind him. When Tom saw that he felt He knew he was lying.

This loud music next door is very annoying

| | | | | | |
|------------------|-------------|-----------------|-----------------|-------------------|-------------|
| disgust | -ing -ed | bor | -ing -ed | exhaust | -ing -ed |
| surpris | -ing -ed | interest | -ing -ed | disappoint | -ing -ed |
| embarrass | -ing -ed | confus | -ing -ed | frustrat | -ing -ed |
| relax | -ing -ed | annoy | -ing | | |

Publication or redistribution of any part of this document is forbidden without authorization of the copyright owner, "blunderbuster" alias Regina Voitl, Germany.