Animal Survival

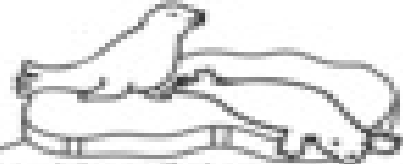

Those Amazing Animals

Polar animals survive in different ways.

Read each method of survival.

Then use your animal cards to find two animals that use that method.

Illustrate and label each matching animal in the box.

1. Some animals' fur turns a lighter color in the winter so that prey or predators cannot easily see them in the ice and snow.

2. Some animals have a thick layer of blubber, or fat, to keep their bodies from freezing in icy waters.

3. Some animals' feet have sharp edges or claws to help them walk easily over the ice and snow.

Bonus Box: Use your animal cards to find another method of survival. On the back of this sheet, write the method and the name of a polar animal that uses it to survive.
