

Animal Babies ----- Page 1

Animals live in families like people do.

To have an animal family there first must be a father animal and a mother animal. There are thousands of different animals all with different names.

Each kind of animal also has different names for the father and mother animals. The baby animals also have different names to their mothers and fathers.

Regardless of where they live, how big they are or what they eat there are some things that are similar.

Did you know that many animal fathers are called 'bills'? These animals can range from cattle to sea lions, from frog to crocodile.

There are also many animal mothers that are called 'moos'. Dolphins, elephants and giraffe mothers are all called 'moos'.

'Calf' is the name for many animal babies & Cow, Hippopotamus and rhinoceros would have a baby 'calf'.

Animal Babies ----- Page 2

Write these sentences in your book with the correct answer.

1. A dog has babies that are called -----, cubs pups
2. The babies in a duck family are called -----, ducklings children
3. A baby frog is called a -----, tad tadpole
4. Pig babies are called -----, piglets cubs
5. Kittens are baby -----, kittens cats