

Scientific Method Crossword Review

Across

- variable that can be changed
- list of directions that tests the hypothesis; produces data
- group in the procedure where there is no change/ normal conditions
- paragraph where data is studied carefully
- variable that depends on the independent variable
- data is displayed in this

Down

- group in the procedure where there is a change
- type of graph that display data in a number of separate or distinct categories
- testable problem that can be proved or disproved
- is used to solve scientific questions
- data is recorded into this
- type of graph that shows how the dependent variable changes in response to independent variable
- predicted answer to the question; if-then statement