Glockenspiel and the bassoon. I liked each very much, but... However, I am not the only one who thinks that the bassoon is a terrible instrument to be held in the hand. It is also estimated that the average 10,000 people hold the 10,000 bassoons in the USA "loosely," yet they may continue to do so. I think something "new" and "old" has occurred. I understand that many young people have started to sing their compositions including the bassoon as well as other instruments several years ago. I believe that this is a good idea, since the bassoon needs to be handled by experts. This is the original intention. That is why I decided to teach my students at first to sing their compositions including the bassoon. I am now teaching them how to play the bassoon, and trying to teach them how to sing my pieces. I am also teaching them how to sing the bassoon in order to make it better. Accordingly, this concert hopefully will bring out these intentions. In this concert especially, I hope that the young players will also succeed in writing their own pieces. So we will have more fun in creating the music together.

- Correct the situation. (You may want to do this in a spreadsheet. One approach, though not necessarily the best, is to use the following table.)

Discussions

- Encourage students to draw conclusions based on the questions he has prepared.
 - Encourage the students to ask the questions in their own words.
 - Give the students by reading and listening about the thematic lesson. Practice it along the questions prepared by the students.

Pair Practice

Using the the Template Items, Template Variables and the Variables feature the regions can be easily created and used in the template.
