Name	Date	Period
Your Thesis Statement
A thesis statement: 1) Is a claim or argument 2) Tells you reader what y 3) Explains how the autho	où will talk about
A thesis statement:  1) Is NOT a statement of fa 2) Is NOT a plot summary
You will begin your thinking by you want to talk about. (Remestatement about life, NOT adv	ember: a theme is	an observation or Collect six quotations (two pe work on the wall or from the r (death, loss, friendship, violen theme has to do with change, the beginning, middle, and en in MLA format [ "Quotation"	novel that show you nce, gangs, regret, you will probably r d of the novel. List	ur theme in the novel childhood). If your need quotations from

Now, examine your quotations. The first part of your thesis statement needs to explain how S.E. Hinton shows the theme in the novel. Do your quotations deal with character personalities or relationships? How a character changes? How characters react to death/loss? The rival gangs in the novel? The setting of the novel? The fighting scenes?