

The Human Body: Organs

1. Pumps blood around your body.
 - a) spleen
 - b) lungs
 - c) heart
2. Stores and breaks down food you have eaten.
 - a) stomach
 - b) liver
 - c) large intestine
3. Adds oxygen to and removes carbon dioxide from your blood.
 - a) heart
 - b) lungs
 - c) stomach
4. Stores urine.
 - a) spleen
 - b) bladder
 - c) small intestine
5. Enables you to think and control your body.
 - a) stomach
 - b) pancreas
 - c) brain
6. Regulates your blood-sugar level, produces bile, and removes toxins from your blood.
 - a) liver
 - b) large intestine
 - c) gall bladder
7. Converts waste products from the food you have eaten into faeces.
 - a) large intestine
 - b) kidneys
 - c) small intestine
8. To make urine from waste products in your blood.
 - a) bladder
 - b) large intestine
 - c) kidneys
9. Allows you to reproduce and have babies.
 - a) genital
 - b) kidneys
 - c) small intestine
10. Stores and removes water from bile, which your body produces to break down fat.
 - a) liver
 - b) kidneys
 - c) gall bladder
11. Removes nutrients from food you have eaten and transfers them to your blood.
 - a) stomach
 - b) large intestine
 - c) small intestine
12. Releases digestive juices to help your body digest food, and releases hormones that regulate your blood-sugar level.
 - a) lungs
 - b) pancreas
 - c) liver