

1984 Anticipation Guide (Part I)

Strongly Agree	Agree		Disagree	Strongly Disagree
		Anonymous "tip lines" allowing citizens to report suspicious behavior to the government are a good idea.
		Books with controversial content should be censored.
		Citizens of the United States do not have to worry about abuse of government power.
		For an idea to exist, we must have words to express it.
		Governments should use security cameras in public places to reduce crime.
		If I know something to be true (2+2=4) no one could ever make me believe otherwise.
		If the government can prove you were thinking about committing a crime, they should be able to arrest you.
		It is appropriate for the government to listen in to my phone conversations – "If I'm not doing anything wrong, I have nothing to worry about."
		It is appropriate to torture a political prisoner if it's for the good of the country.
		It is proper for the government to limit civil liberties at times of war.
		It is unpatriotic to question your government during times of war.
		Our government is the best source of unbiased news.
		Reporters should be required to have their stories approved by the government before their articles are printed.
		"The ends justify the means."
		"The enemy of my enemy is my friend."
		The government should be able to hold people without charge if they are suspected of being a serious threat to the government.
		The right to privacy is more important than our national security.
		"They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."
		To assure our country's freedom, the government should be able to spy on its citizens.
		Torture is an appropriate way to gather intelligence as long as the prisoner does not die.
		War is valid means of achieving peace.
