

Biography

"Anything but ordinary" ...

...describes Avril Lavigne. A skater-punk, a dynamic spirit, a true rebel child. She started impressing people with her voice and character at around age two. Avril was born in Nepean, Ontario. A small-town kid who couldn't sit still in class but had the confidence and determination to get famous on her own. 17 years old, she took off to New York City and Los Angeles to improve her songwriting skills.

An amazingly open and outrageous girl with everything it takes to reach fame - completely on her own terms. "I'm just coming out and I'm going to clearly be myself - I write what I feel, I never worry what others think," Avril says. "I'm gonna dress what's me, I'm gonna act what's me and I'm gonna sing what's me."

(Interview 2002)