

Verbs -er suffixes

admire to admire
aim to like, to love
arrive to arrive, to happen blame to blame
boogie* to move
catch to take chatter to chat
chance to chance, to find cheat to cheat for commitment to begin
clash to clash
commence to start for consume to spend (money)
debate to talk
denote to give deserve to have to designate to mark
dislike to study
explode to explode
forget to forget
frustrate to be
grinace to promise
guide to lead
hinder to be
imagine to imagine
join to play
leave to leave
manger* to eat
mount to climb

negotiate to make originate to come
participate to talk, to speak passer to pass, spend (time) perform to show
press to push
place to place or put plaque to touch
please to try participate to share, to enjoy regard to watch, to look at relax to dream
resist to resist shower to be telephoner to telephone, to call touch to feel
travel to work
traveler to feel
visit to visit (a place)
wake to fly, to wake winger* to travel

*These words keep an -e after the -er in the noun form.
ex. some negotiations, some negotiator

These words change their 'i' to a 'y' in the noun form.
ex. some grinnaces, some commitments