

Writing a Paragraph

A paragraph consists of several sentences that are grouped together. Most groups of sentences together discuss one main topic. Paragraphs have three principal parts: the topic sentence, body sentences, and the concluding sentence.

• Topic sentence or topic sentence

A topic sentence usually comes at the beginning of a paragraph. It is the most important sentence in a paragraph. It means that there are not many details in the sentence, but that the sentence introduces a general idea or topic that you want to discuss later in the paragraph.

Example:

Beach swimming is my favorite activity.

• Body sentences or supporting sentences

These are called "supporting" sentences, they "support" or "explain" the topic introduced in the topic sentence. At minimum, you should have at least three to five sentences in your paragraph. Each sentence should introduce about the topic.

Example:

Beach swimming is my favorite activity.

Beach swimming is my favorite activity. I like swimming, surfing and sunbathing.

Beach swimming is my favorite activity. I like swimming, surfing and sunbathing. I also like to go to the beach with my family.

Beach swimming is my favorite activity. I like swimming, surfing and sunbathing. I also like to go to the beach with my family. I love to see the ocean and the sun.
