

DIFFERENT PARTS OF A THEATRE

gallery - box - balcony - orchestra pit - the stalls - side - circle - auditorium stage - the wings - footlights box	lights that light the audience stage	the part of a theatre where people sit, audience, or the people who have come to watch a performance - audience gallery box	rooms (usually balconies) are located above the audience for the best view footlights	are rows of lights that illuminate the stage where the play takes place to provide the light orchestra	musicians play their instruments and the audience when they watch the audience