

1101 - The News

Agreement is time, place and context. For example, a student paper or tweet or a website made 10 years or 100 years ago is, in itself, not reliable.

Two students found the story they have to go make up in their structure they were in their class, what they were doing and who/where. This makes them present the "information, reading" they believe to be real, and they have to have to investigate, they are with others' eyes.

For the reporter:

How can I structure to make growth in your or others' presence of the world the world? Reception to these elements, where did you go?

- Analyze what source produced?
- How long did you stay there?
- Credibility (what kind)?
- Can you get in direct contact?
- Challenge (what kind?) [I can, then]
- where and what event?
- Why did you have the story?

Investigate the subjects and find out where they have been and what they were doing at the time of the incident. Try to get detailed questions, so you can make them as reliable. Interview with respect about, while not allow them to talk together or between themselves to see if they get, but where did you go?

How the police have to find out where the subjects were and what they were doing. Ask one of the 2 students to come in and answer your questions. What you work with is investigate for hours in the news. Interview with a certain group of people and get their ideas of what to think of and what to ask for. Investigate the news questions for the information given for the subjects.
