

Weathering breaks up rocks.

Erosion carries them away.

Deposition drops them off, and there they will stay
until they are eroded again some day.

Weathering breaks up rocks.

Erosion carries them away.

Deposition drops them off, and there they will stay
until they are eroded again some day.

Weathering breaks up rocks.

Erosion carries them away.

Deposition drops them off, and there they will stay
until they are eroded again some day.

Weathering breaks up rocks.

Erosion carries them away.

Deposition drops them off, and there they will stay
until they are eroded again some day.

Weathering breaks up rocks.

Erosion carries them away.

Deposition drops them off, and there they will stay
until they are eroded again some day.