

Good Touch, Bad Touch, Secret Touch: Your Body Belongs to You

You can decide who can touch you, who can kiss you, or who can give you a hug. You have the right to say, "No."

What do you do when someone touches you inappropriately?

- Say no! Tell the person that you don't like it and you don't want to be touched.
- Get away fast! Run away from the person whose touch you don't like. Never stay alone with that person ever again.
- Call for help. You can scream.
- Believe in yourself. You did nothing wrong.

If someone touches you inappropriately, tell someone you trust what has happened. Don't let threats scare you into running away or keeping quiet.

When a person touches you and asks you to keep it a secret between the two of you, ask yourself, "Do I feel comfortable about keeping this secret? Does the secret bother me?"

Don't keep secrets that make you feel uncomfortable. Go to a person you trust a parent, a relative, a teacher, or your doctor. If the people you go to don't believe you go to someone else you trust until someone believes you and helps you.

Do everything you can to stay away from the threatening and intimidating person. Don't stay alone with a person who touches you in a way that makes you uncomfortable or makes you feel unsafe.

Good Touch

It feels good to be hugged and kissed by the people you love. For example:

- When Mommy gives you a hug and kiss after you wake up.
- When Daddy gives you a good-night hug and kiss.
- When Grandma and Grandpa come to visit and everyone gets hugs and kisses.

Bad Touch

Touches that make you feel uncomfortable are usually bad touches. You don't have to keep a secret when someone gives you bad touch. Don't feel that you
