

which the different sizes of knitting and netting needles can be ascertained with the greatest accuracy.

[The Standard Filière.]

It is necessary, in giving or following directions for knitting, to caution knitters to observe a medium in their work—not knitting either too loose or too tight.