Christmas is a exciting time of year. my hole family enjoys decorating our house for the holidays. We are always ver busy in december, but we do manage to find time to go shopping together. We spend at least one Saturday before christmas shopping for gifts for each other. There are four children of my family. We draw names on thanksgiving and try to keep the name we drew a secret until Christmas morning. This year I drew michael's name. He are easy to buy for because he likes computer games. My parents want he to spend more time playing sports or studying. Michael does not want to even think about that. He would sit in front of the computer for days. If my parents don't make him turn it off. I'll get him an educational game, and then everybody will be happy. I'm not sure who drew my name this year. My brothers wont tell me. They just smile and lau when I ask them. I hope Michael will like the computer game I bought for him. It was hard to find one him didn't already have? Have fun with you family during the holidays this year.
