Writing Thesis Statements in 3 Steps

1. Make the topic specific	2. Continue with a debatable phrase	3. Explain the significance to the audience
Exactly who?	does	, proving that
When? How many?	does not should	, resulting in
Which ones?	should not highlights	, making us doubt
Where?	ignores	, reminding us that

Example 1: The longer school day in Chicago next year does not guarantee that students will be productive in classes, reminding us that young people need to find learning meaningful.

Example 2: The longer school day in Chicago next year does guarantee more learning opportunities, resulting in increased student success.
