

Lights! Camera! Action!

Today we're going to make a movie! You'll learn that you always need to be a movie star, and more or less that's that!

Each group will need to choose:

One director (the person who is in control of making the movie)
Five or six cast members

The director is in charge of saying "Lights! Camera! Action!" Then the actor or actress must get out for the first scene. Everyone in the class will need to write down what they think the person is doing. At the end, the director should yell "Cut!" If the director thinks that the actor or actress did a good job, they will shout "Excellent!" and the person can sit down. If they think they did a bad job, they can yell "Terrible!" and the person has to try and do it again.
