

Using Context Clues

Directions: For each item, circle the letter of the sentence with correctly used context. If the sentence is correct as is, circle correct.

1. "Why are you shouting?" the woman or staff member asked.
A. "Will you get down on to the ground, or shall we take you?"
B. "Will you get down with the woman, or shall we take you?"
C. "Will you get down to the ground or shall we take you?"
D. Correct
2. After the fire, the school will be closed for several weeks.
A. After the fire, the school will be closed for several weeks.
B. After the fire, the school will be closed for several weeks.
C. After the fire, the school will be closed for several weeks.
D. Correct
3. The principal visited the school, and the students were excited.
A. The principal visited the school, and the students were excited.
B. The principal, visited the school, and the students were excited.
C. The principal, visited the school, and the students were excited.
D. Correct
4. Several children who will be asked to help in the school.
A. Several children who will be asked to help in the school.
B. Several children, who will be asked to help in the school.
C. Several children, who will be asked to help in the school.
D. Correct
5. I have already read the book and you should be proud of it.
A. I have already read the book and you should be proud of it.
B. I have already read the book and you should be proud of it.
C. I have already read the book and you should be proud of it.
D. Correct
6. Please don't forget to bring your book.
A. Please don't forget to bring your book.
B. Please don't forget to bring your book.
C. Please don't forget to bring your book.
D. Correct